

About Q_Quillz, CyberIdol_En's CEO

First of all, nothing here is a coincidence and I swear that everything in this document is real.

Let's start off with this short thread on Twitter. As you can see, Q_Quillz has been mentioned.

2 44 1,199 37.9K

Mochi Ghost @Mochi... · 2023-05-08

IMPORTANT: This is a DOUBLE SCAM.
Someone claiming to be the instagram's actual owner has come forward and is ALSO RUNNING A COMMISSION SCAM 🤡🤡🤡
twitter.com/PumpkinSynth/s...

This Tweet is unavailable.

4 77 1,025 46.6K

Mochi Ghost @MochiGhostVT

Here is an example of the person claiming to own the Instagram stealing models :/ twitter.com/Q_Quillz/statu...

This Tweet is unavailable.

21:04 · 2023-05-08 · 29.1K Views

7 Retweets 1 Quote 222 Likes

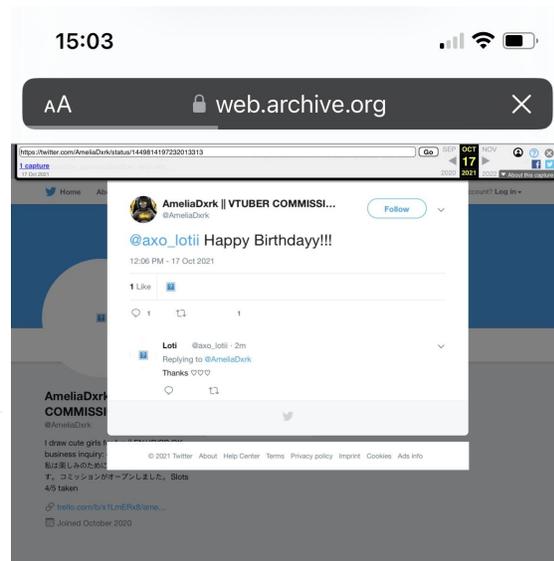

Q_Quillz used to be AmeliaDxrk.

By using the simple search feature on twitter that unintentionally reveals one's old twitter handle, you can once again see that Q_Quillz is the same account.

You can see that all of these have been tweeted by Q_Quillz, and after a quick search on the internet archive, one of those tweets look familiar.

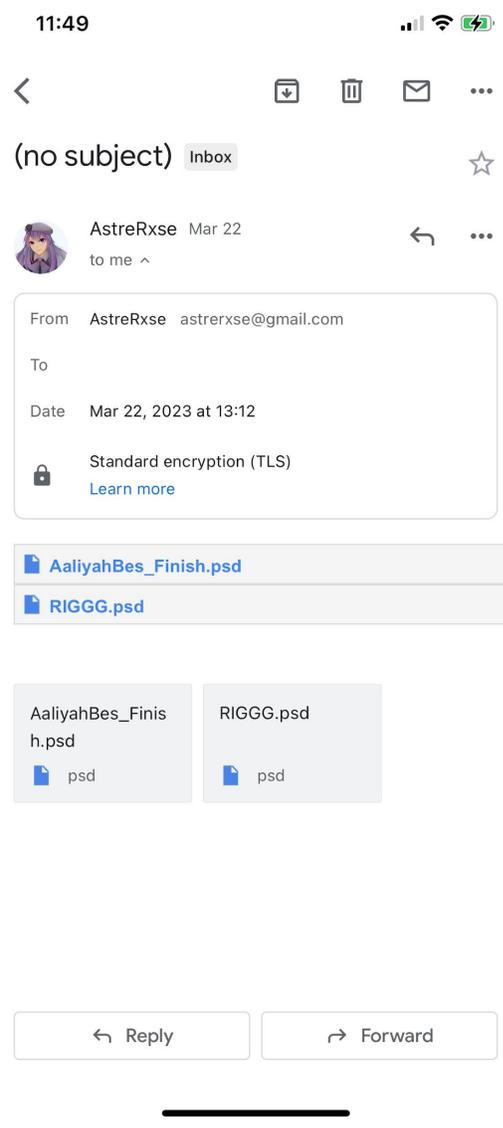

They didn't even bother making a new account, just changed the handle, deleted a few tweets, and hoped that no one would notice.

About AmeliaDxrk/AstreRxse

AmeliaDxrk has been a somewhat known scammer, but they've also been a part of an "agency" that was started around the end of 2022. The agency being DestinyVLive.

Let's start with what they currently have up, they posted a twitlonger full of half truths and a bunch of lies. They mentioned that they sent a model so "they (talent) could practice rigging on it". It was sent over gmail from someone called AstreRxse.

AstreRxse is just another alias that AmeliaDxrk went under, they're the same person.

AmeliaDxrk was DVL's "artist", doing art for their talents.

Saphira Crowfield was a "talent" that people auditioned for. AmeliaDxrk is listed as their mama.

DVL claimed they've been scammed, since Saphira and other designs they had were created using AI. I do not believe that to be true. Otherwise, why would our work end up in AmeliaDxrk's hands after they've been "fired"?

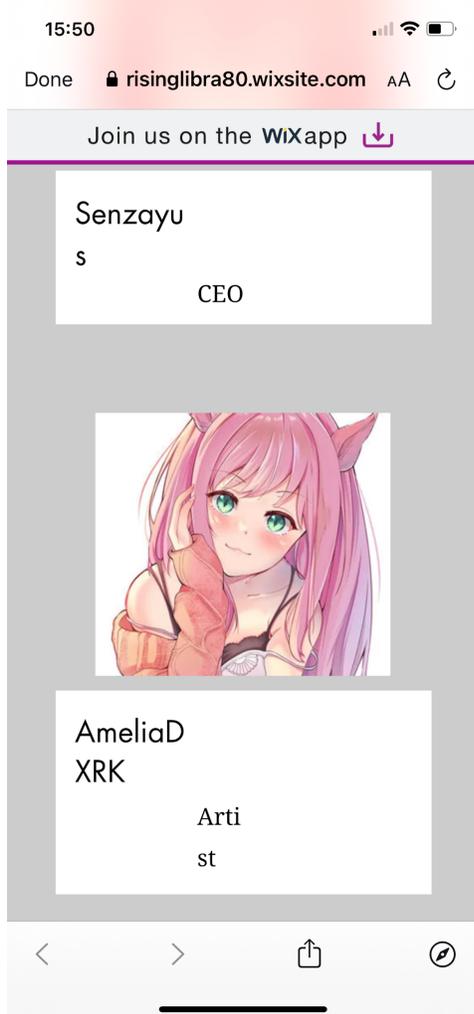

How did DestinyVLive disband?

It's simple. Art that was shared in the "agency"'s private server was leaked onto an account called Senzayus.

Senzayus only follows one person, Q_Quillz. Why? Because Q_Quillz is AmeliaDxrk lol

AmeliaDxrk is once again listed as an artist, yet all the art in their website is stolen.

So what now?

Q_Quillz, AmeliaDxrk, AstreRxse, FlorianDxrk, MaryIsALoser, LittleAutumn5, pandorasulliv, and probably many other accounts are all the same person. They've scammed and stolen from many people and even though they're very sloppy with it, they continue to get away with it.

CyberIdol_EN is another untrustworthy agency and I cannot stress this enough but please do your research before auditioning for any agency.

If they claim to be an agency and require contracts and whatnot, check to see if they've been registered and are actually real. (literally just search them up on google).

This all started after I just skimmed through Q_Quillz's account, it was that easy to find out their past.

I'm sorry to Lilith Einhorn, Sera Hymn, Dahlia Starbright and anyone else who trusted DestinyVLive and ended up hurt after it disbanded, and sorry to those who've been stolen from and scammed by this person with a million aliases.

There's another document about this person and you can see that at some point they start using the same profile picture that AmeliaDxrk uses (in Senzayu's website).